

1 PETE THE PENGUIN

It was a nice and sunny day.

Pete the penguin was on his way to the beach.

A chimpanzee went by.

"Hello," said Pete the penguin.

But the chimpanzee did not say "Hello".

He was eating a banana.

Suddenly Pete the penguin heard somebody shout.

"Help!"

He ran around the corner

to see what had happened.

There he saw George the gorilla.

George had fallen.

He muttered, "Huhu, I fell over."

Pete wanted to help George.

"Is your head okay?" he asked George.

George touched his head.

"Yes, it's okay," he said.

"Is your nose okay?" Pete asked George.

George touched his nose.

"Yes, I think so.

My nose is okay," he said.

"Is your foot okay?" Pete asked George.

George touched his foot.

"Yes, thank God,

my foot is okay," he said.

PETE THE PENGUIN

"Is your leg okay?" Pete asked George.

George touched his leg.

"Yes, my leg is okay.

Everything is okay," George said.

"Good!" said Pete, "but listen, George,
be careful – don't fall again!"
And off he went to the beach.

Pete the penguin was very happy that George the gorilla was okay.

He did not see the banana skin
George had slipped on.
"Oooooooh! Help!" Pete shouted.

This time George the gorilla ran around the corner
to see what had happened.

There he saw Pete the penguin.

Now he wanted to help his friend,
so he asked,

"Are you okay, Pete?"
